The screenshot shows a search results page for 'autism' on a library website. At the top, there are navigation links: Home, Libraries you can search, More health information, Bookstore, and Cart (0). Below the navigation is a breadcrumb trail: HOME > HEALTH LIBRARY > LIST. A search bar contains the word 'autism' and a magnifying glass icon. To the right of the search bar are buttons for 'Print' and 'PDF', and a dropdown menu for 'Sorted by: Relevance'. Below the search bar, there are navigation buttons: 'Prev', 'Next', and 'Expand All'. On the left side, there is a 'Narrow By' section with a list of filters: Location, Format, Date, Author, Subject, Audience, and Language. The main content area displays three search results. Each result includes a book cover icon, the title, author information, agency, location, call number, and a brief description. The first result is 'Services guide for children with Autism Spectrum Disorder - From diagnosis until adolescence: Services you should know about but didn't know to ask' by Autism Society of British Columbia. The second is 'My friend with autism' by Bishop, Beverly, and Bishop, Craig (illustrator). The third is 'Taking autism to school' by Edwards, Andreamna, and Dineen, Tom (illustrator). Each result has 'Add to cart' and 'Share' buttons, and a 'Permalink' link.
