

ON TRAC Transition Partners and Collaborators

Updated February 2017

The ON TRAC Initiative has been built on the openness, willingness, and expertise from an expansive list of collaborators covering all stakeholders impacted and involved in the transition from pediatric to adult services. We have engaged the expertise and guidance from youth, young adults, family members, medical specialists, family physicians, nursing, social workers, psychologists, physiotherapists, occupational therapists, dietitians, child life workers, program managers and researchers - across pediatric, adult and community-based services throughout BC. Condition-specific agencies and organizations and advocacy groups have provided valuable direction, voice and participation. These informal partnerships have led to the development and integration of transition tools and processes. The list, to date, recognizes the (100) organizations and (450+) individuals who contributed their expertise and time.
